FOREWORD

H. C. H. S.
1940-41

Fellow Students:

In order to help you recall all of your classes, friends, activities, and good times at H. C. H. S., we have published this book. We collected snapshots that suggested memorable events, then added a few comments, and entitled it "The Hiltop". We hope you enjoy it.

MR. AND MRS. SAMUEL PATON

DEDICATION

In the past we've dedicated The Hiltop to different teachers and other friends. For our book this year the student body decided on two people who are indispensable to
H. C. H. S. They not only keep our building in order, but their amiable personalities help to increase the jovial and friendly spirit. We dedicate this book to — Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Paton.

CONTENTS

The regular school day begins bright and early, going into full swing at 8:45. Therefore we start our book with "Morning School." In it we include the morning classes and students.

"Afternoon School" begins with the busy corridor at noon, continuing through the active fifth hour, and closing with the doors at 3:30.

A great deal of school life takes place after classes are over, which we call "After School," so in our final section we include operetta, carnival, senior class play, and athletics.

MORNING SCHOOL

Bowser, Mr. Starry, man from Jamaica, Klar.

Zellmann, Dammann, Greene,
Kralik, Jones, Maksin, Pickerill,
Robinson, Miller, Long.

Ludwig, Cress, Smith, Yoffie.

FIRST PERIOD

8:40-9:45: As I look back upon the many days I spent at H. C. H. S., I first recall the preliminary period which was set aside for plays, lyceums, announcements, etc. I can still see "Pick" as he strolled to the altar with his royal crown cocked on one side as he portrayed a character in "Why the Chimes Rang", given by the German Club. Oh! yes, remember how Margaret Smith made a perfect housewife in the Christmas play; and then we couldn't overlook all the interesting lyceums. I remember especially the man from Jamaica and the Swiss Yodlers.

Going from the auditorium to my first hour class, I was always deafened by a loud din of voices and a clatter of footsteps. As the conglomeration of people finally subsided, the few lingerers rushed madly to their classes as the bell rang loudly starting the first hour class. Remember when we walked into the auditorium one morning and held our breaths as we saw six chairs balanced carefully on one tiny table. After we viewed the state of affairs we scurried over to band and what did we hear but a band screech of trombone which turned out to be just Jerry Yoffie imitating Tommy Dorsey. On top of that we looked around and saw Lindh Young wiping lipstick from behind his ear. I wonder what Julia Anne meant when she said, "Is my lipstick smeared?" I could go on forever telling you about the first hour but as you read on through this book you will learn more and more about life at H. C. H. S.

"One, two, three, four and a long break between the second and third beats. Now, let's try it again." What was that? Why, it was only the scene of a regular band rehearsal. Few of us realize the hours they spend in preparing for public performances. We've all enjoyed immensely their grand marching this year, especially the patriotic demonstration. I'll always remember the thrill I got as the spot light played on the large flag and everyone sang the "Star Spangled Banner."

Our band is led by Mr. Cox. A great deal of his time is spent in drilling and teaching the musicians to have "more accent and better rhythm." We all like our band and appreciate the work they've done in helping with our school activities.

SENIORS ABOUT SCHOOL

Five more like these would make an all-star football team. They are Osborn, Mikeska, Eskra, Mazzier, Traylor, and Ellington. Rah! Rah! Rah! for our cheer leaders, King, Denny, and Dammann.

Root and Strausbaugh are the men behind the team.

Are we seeing double? No, they're our twins, Lela and Lola Miller.

Here is another section of our band—Zellmann, Yoffie, Neal, and Todd.

Cramer is one of our high stepping drum majorettes. McLean, Pickerill, and Neece are anticipating a successful season.

Johnston helps Mr. Paton keep H. C. H. S. neat and clean.

Welge, Jones, Mormino, Ott, and Salsi are our top letter men for basketball.

Jones, Nessler, Young, Niebrand, and Darda swing out on their favorite march, King Cotton.

Senior shorthand students Evans, Mackey, and Gilliland are writing at top speed.

If you like the 1941 Hiltop, Mayer, Markel, Newport, Strange, and Greene are among those responsible.

Our speedy senior typists are Grant, Limper, Sturgeon, and Monahan.

Borgognoni, Kessler, Neathery, and Hiller help keep up the good standing of the G. A. A.

Piazza, Kralik, and Fergusson add to our speech activities.

SECOND PERIOD

9:45-10:30: After the three minutes between classes, the loud din of voices could no longer be heard in the corridors and once more the quietude of second hour descended on H.C.H.S.

On those days that Mr. Girhard was detained in the office second hour, a low mumble of voices that later developed into a "jam session" could be heard in the upper corridor. Could the physics class have been locked out of the lecture room again?

We remember too the loud crash that penetrated our ears on the day that Stuart Cole fell out of his "seat-of-honor" in room 13.

The students in the classrooms near the foods laboratory no doubt enjoyed the delightful aroma of home made candy the week before Christmas—Miss Foster's girls' contribution to the Christmas cheer in their respective homes.

With the coming of spring, we understand that the freshmen were so overcome by "spring-fever" that on the first warm day Miss Whitten was forced to let them take a turn around the building to subdue their vagrant impulses. This also reminds us of the time when Miss Whitten spent part of second hour in the library thinking it was third.

This, the so-called serenity of the second period of our school day, was always broken by the thud of twelve hundred feet hitting the floor at once, and the corridors buzzed again with lively excitement.

THIRD PERIOD

10:30-11:15: Finally after the bell rang and the buzzing subsided, the third hour class came into session.

As I look back, I remember a particular day when the dignified seniors were having their pictures taken. As you see above, Bill was posed just so. After watching these seniors, I proceeded up the east flight of steps to the top floor of H. C. H. S. Can't you just see Jack, Dorothy, and Dave very earnestly doing an electrical experiment, while on the other side of the room Earl was having a jolly time trying to balance himself on a jack screw. Of course, after several attempts he succeeded.

It seems as though I remember something funny in Mrs. Neylon's speech class. Oh! yes, don't you remember Rosalie Greene's modern version of "Evangeline?" They must have had some rare times when these future stage productions were being given. Rosalie's play was based on three facts:

She loved him and she lost him.
She chased him and she found him.
She kissed him and he died.

We heard that Martha was quite bewildered when "Pick" fell into her arms in the closing scene.

What fun it is to look back and recall so many things that have happened. I am sure we will never forget all those third periods crammed full of work, fun, and laughter.

11:15-12:00: Intermingled with the subsiding confusion between third and fourth hour classes, we seldom failed to hear the familiar "war cry" of the junior class: "But won't you buy another one? You can always use pencils."

Then, somewhat dejected due to the profound empty feeling that began creeping over us at the beginning of the period, we half-heartedly sank into our respective seats at eleven-fifteen and immediately began listening for the twelve o'clock bell.

We recall several incidents that occurred at different times during the year to verify the fact that our minds strayed from the straight and narrow track quite frequently the fourth period. Two seniors found that the last forty-five minutes before lunch sped by much faster when they were engaged in a game they called "pinchy-winchy", and Mr. Adams had to apply a more forceful power than words to divert one of his trig student's attention from the back of the room.

Finally at eleven-fifty-nine, as if by instinct, notebooks were snapped shut, books were closed, and the arms of the auditorium seats were put down. We sat tense, barely clinging to that edge of our seat which was nearer our source of food—either our locker, the cafeteria, or sometimes the candy stand.

After an extra long minute, we saw, and heard the race from the New Gym, and then the stampede began once more.

This year brings, as all others do, another group of freshmen. Green? No, we can't say green. Young? Yes, that will do. It's always the same—missing classrooms, to the office to check books, strayed locker keys, and those lost, bewildered looks. We all acted the same, but that is the "stuff" that builds sophisticated sophomores, jolly juniors, and dignified seniors. A toast, freshmen—here's to you, the future graduating class of 1944.

SCHOOL DAYS

G. Whittier

Still sits the schoolhouse by the road
A ragged beggar sunning;
Around it still the sumacks grow
And blackberry vines are running.

Within, the master's desk is seen
Deep scarred by raps official
The warping floor, the battered seats,
The jack-knives carved initial.

NOON and FIFTH HOUR

12:00-1:15: Oophs! There's the bell! They're off! These thoroughbreds are racing furiously as they near the last turn to the lunch line. At the sound of this bell some of the more drowsy students liven up and get into the routine of school. Of all the hurrying and scurrying during a day at H. C. H. S., none can surpass this mad rush at lunch time.

One day as I was coming upstairs from lunch, I noticed Velma and "Casanova." I suppose you all heard about "that little affair." Whether it was serious or not, all passers-by just had to chuckle to themselves.

Can't you remember the startling surprises that have happened in the first floor corridor? Thanks to Mrs. Neylon you can actually walk through the hall without being pushed from one side to the other. One day when our boys were going to meet those daring Litchfield lads, we had a pep meeting in the corridor and it was so much fun. Everyone showed vim, vigor, and vitality, and there was so much enthusiasm in their cheers that it gave new courage to our boys.

After noon hour things begin to quiet down and fifth hour starts. Many activities go on such as: Girls rush to Chorus, boys go to their Glee Club, and others to German Club meetings, Commercial Club meetings, G. A. A., Girls' Clubs, and to top it all off Hiltoppers are all over the building at once. They are taking pictures, running down delinquent payments, meeting salesmen, and then back to Hiltop. Words can't express how wonderful "LIFE AT H. C. H. S." is, but wait, don't close this book yet; there are many more things to see and read.

The Home Economics Club meets on the fourth Wednesday of every month, the fifth hour. This year the girls have taken part in more outside activities than in the past, and several interesting meetings have been planned for them.

At the first meeting Elva Long was chosen for president, Margery Davis for vice-president, and Mary May for secretary. The club sent Elva Long and Mary May to the Home Economics meeting at Springfield, and they gave their reports at the second meeting. A vocal solo by Jeanne Neece was also enjoyed on this particular Wednesday. Those on the program for the third meeting were Margery Davis who gave a report on the Litchfield meeting which the girls attended, and others who provided musical entertainment.

During the year the girls not only found time to make new drapes for their class rooms, but also did a great deal of sewing for the Red Cross. Both the foods and clothing classes have new laboratory equipment this year which makes their work more enjoyable.

RODDY'S TROUBADOURS

If someone should be walking down the hall during the fifth period on Thursday, he might hear the harmonious sound of "Tick, Tock, Tick, Tock" vibrating through the walls of the old gym. To be sure it would be enough to arouse anyone's curiosity and upon a little investigation he would find it to be the Boys' Glee Club just "striking out" on the last note of "Grandfather's Clock." (We wonder what Grandfather would think if he could hear it!)

The Glee Club is an organization, composed of the first and second tenors, baritone, basses, and those who just sing. Mr. Rademacher wields a wicked baton, Nancy Dammann beats it out "eight to the bar," and John Strausbaugh, the President, does "not much of anything" in his high position but gives his moral support. These went together to make a very impressive picture.

The Club did itself proud this year as it had not only a quartette which was composed of Lindh Young, Kenneth Ellington, Paul Welge, and Joe Venturelli, but also a trio, of which the members were Lindh, Kenny, and "Footy." They had a very successful year and had the opportunity to sing at many schools and outside entertainments. Some of their favorite (ours, too) numbers were "Go Down Moses," "Sweet and Low," and "Stand Up and Cheer"—and everyone did!

GIRLS' CHORUS

We attended the first few meetings of the Girls' Chorus in the New Gym where the freshmen and sophomores took their places along the top rows of the bleachers to form an audible, as well as picturesque background for our skilled senior singers. Our capable officers, Jeanne Neece, Martha Ernst, and Bette McLean were elected at the first meeting.

Due to the large enrollment, it was necessary to divide the chorus, and Miss Biggs took charge of the freshmen and sophomores after the first two meetings. Theodora Marcolini was chosen as corresponding secretary, and Mary Ellen Attebery was the accompanist. We gladly donated the printed song sheets to them, and every Tuesday, the fifth hour, the rafters rang with "The Glow Worm" and other favorites.

Miss Horner kept her juniors and seniors, but as soon as the winter blasts began to blow and snow flakes began whirling about us as we ran from the Old Building to the New Gym, the meeting place was abruptly transferred to the Old Gym. There Floy Marie Strange furnished the down-beats, and the rest sang from honest to goodness music with notes.

GIRLS' CHORUS

Our interest in Girls' Chorus was constantly stimulated by the frequent programs. Remember the one based on Stephen Collins Foster? It was educational as well as interesting.

This year we enjoyed those last few minutes of each meeting when rhythm reigned even more than ever before. In fact, the Girls' Chorus now owns a good many of the "sweet" popular pieces — "Trade Winds," etc.

Then spring was in the air, and we blossomed forth with all the added enthusiasm that is always present during the operetta season. We were undaunted by the epidemic of mumps that raged through the school, keeping some of the leading characters at home for a few days. With the help of the Boys' Glee Club—both direct and indirect—and with Miss Horner and Miss Biggs guiding us over the bumps, we succeeded in producing another successful operetta on the stage in the New Gym—"Hansel and Gretel."

"AS OTHERS SAY IT"

In Spain they say "Si, Si," in France they say "Oui, Oui," every little German says "Ja, Ja"—and that's just what every present and former German student said about organizing the Deutsch Klub this year. President, Herr Russell Pickerill, took charge of the meetings; vice-president, Herr Willie Mikeska, patiently waited for the day to come when he could take the president's chair; and secretary-treasurer, Fraulein Rosalie Greene, did her best to keep the wolf from the door. Club meetings were made interesting by singing Deutsch songs under the leadership of our advisor, Herr Rademacher, and also by the very exceptional programs which were given throughout the year. Instead of having the annual weiner roast, a dance was held at the Country Club and the

The Girls Athletic Association is an active and energetic group whose many activities consist of initiations, teas, basketball spreads and an annual May Fete. This year their efficient officers are:

President—Helen Cramer

Vice-President—June Hill

Secretary-Treasurer—Bernice Pulliam

The membership of G. A. A. reached twenty-nine this year and the organization welcomes all new members.

Last summer four girls, June Hill, Bernice Pulliam, Ruth Kessler, and Grace Osborn were sent to the Central G. A. A. Camp at Bloomington. Grace took care of her own expenses but the G. A. A. paid half for each of the other girls.

This year the G. A. A. intend to present to you "The Quest of the Firebird." The leads will be very capably performed by Hope King and Elio Fiocchi. Hope portrays the part of the "Firebird" and also Princess Arora. Elio is Prince Boreas.

The Lady of May sends the Princes in quest of her waiting maids. One by one the Princes return bringing with them not the firebird but something which equally pleases the Lady of May.

Finally, with a loud fanfare, Prince Boreas enters triumphantly for he alone has captured the Firebird. Soon the Firebird is released from her spell cast by the wicked witch and becomes the beautiful Princess Arora. Upon seeing her, Prince Boreas exclaims that she is his heart's desire.

After the play, awards will be given to the seniors.

SYNOPSIS

"June Mad" is the dramatization of several days in a girl's life, when she passes from childhood into womanhood. Dr. and Mrs. Wood, the tolerant, understanding parents of Penny, through their good humor and charm, have made their home a rendezvous for all their neighbors. The story concerns Penny and Chuck Harris, the boy next door, as they go about the frequently difficult, but always amusing business of growing up. When Penny's Uncle Mervyn, only five years older than she, brings Roger Van Vleck, a senior and killer-diller, home from college, she forgets to be a man-hater and succumbs to an attack of calf-love, writing him "lush" love verses and buying a flaming red evening dress to impress him. Meanwhile Chuck is having problems of his own, the most perplexing of which is a struggle with his father over a glider. After Chuck has a narrow escape with the glider, Mr. Harris comes to a more sympathetic understanding of the trials of youth. Penny's efforts to make herself attractive to the fascinating Roger almost disrupts two families, but the discovery that Roger is double-crossing Mervyn by trying to steal his girl, brings her back to normal, and incidentally, to Chuck.

SIXTH HOUR

1:15-2:00: In recalling the many things that happened sixth hour, I can still see everyone standing around the fountain in front of history class discussing the latest gossip and laughing at the newest jokes, waiting for the bell. Then I always laugh when I think of the day we passed Audrey's shoe around the room and also the time when "Rody" was so astonished to see one of his "prize" pupils stick out her tongue at him. You always say that slips don't count, and I guess it's a good thing they don't sometimes. To go on to the biology lab, I can still see the look on Nancy's face when she found "Rodie" (the toad) in her purse. By the way, those were queer names for toads weren't they? Speaking of biology, there was also the day when Joan Telfer screamed as a white rat (?) ran across the floor. Now, Joan, are you sure it was at least a half-foot long? I can't forget the time when Rosalie and Royal blew out that fuse. Now tell me who do you think caused the trouble? It did make a good commotion though, didn't it? What was that I heard about Gordon painting Bill Stokes' nails bright red and beating all the glamour girls at their own job? Aren't you about convinced now that every school day and class period isn't the same? Yes, a lot of little things happen to break the monotony, don't they?

SEVENTH HOUR

2:00-2:45: Definitely the drowsiest, most lifeless period that we spent during a school day! The six periods that had been left behind—and incidentally had been long forgotten in most cases—had reduced our vitality to such an extent that we no longer made an effort to overcome the power of sleep that was steadily creeping upon us. Neither had the invigorating anticipation of hearing the buzz of the three-thirty bell produced its effect on us as yet. How we envied those seniors who sat in the front of the study hall—far enough away from Mr. Adams to be confident that their daily seventh hour snooze would not be interrupted. The unfortunate creatures who had to spend this period in a stuffy classroom were frequently forced to rely on each other's support to prevent such accidents as often befall "vertical slumberers."

The few hints of excitement that revealed themselves during this period found practically no competition. Thus such trivial things as tacks and cats soared into the limelight and attained fame over night. (We do, however, realize that a tack, though it seems so small to the majority of us, is not a thing to be laughed at—if you get the point.)

Suddenly without warning the seventh hour lull began to break. The study hall dozers slowly come to life—some nonchalantly—some to the rare amusement of those around them. Then the entire student body, now rested and aware of the fact that there was only one more class ahead, revived and were once again in condition to sit erect in their eighth hour classes—with their coats on—and not so much as bat an eyelid.

EIGHTH HOUR

2:45-3:30: What a pleasant relief it was to hear the bell that assembled the last classes for the day. That was the period when we wondered whether to take our coats to class or not, and also the time we debated with ourselves as to whether we should take books home or spend the evening at the basketball game. In the eighth hour students went to sleep in study halls, exhausted from a busy day, and "certain people" read such interesting articles as "Why Widows are Dangerous." Then there was that day that "Rody" told Gordon to remove his feet from the poor mistreated chair, and Gordon laughed till he developed a bad case of hiccups.

I heard also that there was at one time a certain corporation of four boys in history class. I wonder if they ever consented to paying their income tax!

How well I remember the time when Miss Whitten was late for class and Bob took over, acting very intelligent with his high-minded ideas and "teacherly" ways. That was when we learned what a wide field of education advanced algebra covered.

With each eighth hour came the end of the school day. To some of us it was an exciting day full of fun and enjoyment; to others it was only wasted hours of dull, tiresome classes; and to the majority of students it meant only another leaf torn from the school calendar.

"As a Librarian Sees It"

The first five minutes of a period is usually uneventful and very quiet. Then the rush starts in—you know there are three different types of persons who come to the library each day. There are those who don't want any book in particular, but just want to look around. They usually decide not to take any book after you've shown them every single one in the library. Meanwhile, someone comes in who knows a very definite book that he wants and if it is out, he decides to wait until it is returned.

Last but not least is the person who after being shown every book decides upon the first one shown him. Thus he proceeds to walk out very contentedly.

Oh! Shucks, I'm making the job of being a librarian sound very unpleasant and it really isn't. Besides being very interesting and educational, it's a great pleasure to serve the faculty and students, especially under such a capable advisor as Miss Biggs.

AFTER SCHOOL

THE MEN WHO MAKE THE LAWS

As I was given the duty of writing the Board of Education write-up for the 1941 Hiltop, I was quite puzzled to determine just what to write. So, I interviewed Mr. Girhard for about five or ten minutes on the "whys and wherefores" of the Board of Education.

I learned that these men were elected on the second week of April for a term of three years. They receive no pay for their deeds because they work solely for the purpose of bettering H. C. H. S.

After the election, they meet to discuss matters concerning H. C. H. S. They decide upon the hiring and firing of the faculty, date of holidays, dismissal, baccalaureate, and commencement.

They elect their own officers which are Dr. H. A. Seymour, president; Mr. James Cress, secretary and treasurer.

Praises and thanks should go to these men for their excellent work in keeping our school strictly at the head of the list.

FOOTBALL

First game of the season Hillsboro met Mattoon on our home field. The first touchdown was made in the second quarter by a line plunge. In the third quarter Hillsboro tallied again, making the extra point. Final score 13-0.

Benld traveled to Hillsboro for the second game of the season. Benld made the only score of the game in the first quarter. Final score 6-0.

It rained before the Decatur-Hillsboro game making the field wet and slippery. Each team scored a touchdown. Final score 6-6.

Hillsboro journeyed to Taylorville for their only night game. When the final gun went off Hillsboro had the ball on Taylorville's one foot line. Final score Taylorville 7, Hillsboro 6.

The next game was played on our home field with Gillespie. Hillsboro showed their fighting Hiltop spirit by trouncing Gillespie 27-0.

In the Nokomis-Hillsboro game it seemed as though everything the Nokomis team tried to do went wrong, while Hillsboro clicked in perfect timing. The game ended with Hillsboro winning by a score of 47-0.

In the last home game of the season Hillsboro succeeded in defeating Mt. Olive by a score of 45-13.

On Armistice Day Hillsboro played their last scheduled game at Pana. The game ended in a scoreless tie.

PAUL WELGE

Paul's long shots kept Hillsboro on top during many games this year. He played as a mainstay for three years.

ROSS MORMINO

Rossie's overhead shots and offensive playing made him a member of the team for two years.

JACK OTT

Jack was a flashy forward uncovered in his junior year and improved greatly. His ability to handle the ball saved the game many times.

ROBERT JONES

Bob played as a sub his junior year while this year he took over his duties as center. Everyone counted on Bob to pull the game off the ice, as he frequently did.

KENNETH WILLIAMS

Tubby held up his end of the defense and came out with flying colors. Long shots were his specialty. Tubby looks forward to his senior year.

ARTHUR SALSI

When we got in a tough spot Coach Fearheiley put Art in to give the team that extra pep they lacked.

WAYNE WELGE

Wayne played as a sub on the team this year. Whenever we needed the rebounds the Welge brother combination gave us the support.

KENNETH ELLINGTON

Kenny showed his speed on the floor and could always be counted on for those much needed points.

BILL DAGON

Bill was a new find in basketball this year and looks forward to his senior year.

KENNETH LONG

Kenneth played mostly on the second team, but also did his part in playing as a sub on the first team.

KENNETH PHILIPS

Kenneth surprised many fans by his ability as a basketball player and shows initiative.

ALBERT FISHBACK

Albert is only a freshman and shows much promise in his three remaining years.

ROBERT FERGUSON

He played as a regular on the second team. He shows the makings of a fine athlete.

MIKE FUDOLI

Although Mike uses his mouth too much, it came in a little handy when he played with the second team.

MAURICE SUITS

Deacon's ability to handle the ball shows great possibility for the future.

FRANKLIN DENTON

Franklin played as a sub on the second team but always put in his share of playing.

LAMAR PHILIPS

Lamar, a brother to Kenneth, helped the second team to many a victory by his perfect team work.

FRED ROOT

Fred, a senior, was ineligible for football or basketball but helped keep the boys' suits and clothing in shape.

JOHN STRAUSBAUGH

John, a senior, was also ineligible for football or basketball so he chose to be Coach Fearheiley's right hand manager.

TRACK . . 1940

The Crow Hill track and field team placed third in a quadrangular track meet at Pana which was won by the Pana team with 44 points. Springfield High School was second with 41 points, the Hiltoppers third with 18 points and Tower Hill fourth with 13 points. Clotfelter of Hillsboro established a new mark in the half mile run with the time clocked at 2:07.7 minutes. He and Romelin, who ran in the mile race, were the only two to place first in the thirteen events.

The Litchfield track and field squad won from Hillsboro Community High School athletes 66 $\frac{2}{5}$ to 46 $\frac{3}{5}$ in a meet held at Litchfield. Lemay of Hillsboro romped home first in the 440 yard run. Ellington, in the 100 yard low hurdles; Clotfelter in the half mile, and Romelin in the mile were also first place winners for the Hillsboro team. Bolton, another Hiltop athlete, leaped 19 feet 11½ inches to take the broad jump.

Carlinville's track and field team carried off first place with 61 points in the South Central Conference meet held at Taylorville. Pana took second place with 48 points and the host team, Taylorville, with 28 points, third. Clotfelter came in first in the 880 yard run, while Romelin ran second in the mile. Bolton placed second in the broad jump and Lemay received third in the discus. The weather was more suitable for football than for track and field events, and only one record was broken.

Jones, Venturelli, Zellmann, Young, Yoffie, Ludwig, Strausbaugh.

Hicks, Orvis, Lyerla, Phillips, Kessler. Sturgeon, B., Greene, Simmons, Todd, Sturgeon, D., McLean, Wolf, Neece.

AUDITORIUM SHOW

In the Auditorium show we saw the hottest of all swing bands. The audience went wild when John Strausbaugh, wielding the baton, and his little German band (George Jones, Joe Venturelli, Fred Zellmann, Lindh Young, Jerry Yoffie, and Bob Ludwig) swung out to the tune of South of the Border.

As Julia Schluckebier announced them, six countries appeared in person to us. Under their disguise we saw John Paul Summers, Martha Ernst, Rosalind Guy, Margaret Smith, Mary Welsh, and Elio Fiocchi. To present a better picture of their representative country, they sang, danced, played a musical instrument, or gave a speech.

Then Noretta Hicks, Irene Orvis, Patsy Lyerla, Norma Phillips, and Ruth Kessler tripped out as dainty Dutch lassies. They whirled and twirled in their wooden shoes as if they had lived in Holland all their lives.

As the curtains parted, we saw Jeanne Neece with her seven Indian maidens seated around the campfire. Supplemented by her fair maidens (Rosalie Greene, Helen Todd, Bette McLean, Betty Sturgeon, Eloine Simmons, Dorcas Sturgeon, Marjorie Wolf), Jeanne sang an Indian song.

Last but not least was this troop of dainty, graceful ballet dancers. Under rouge, lipstick, hair ribbons, and curls were Fred Root, Kenneth Williams, Willy Mikeska, Jack Ott, Arthur Salsi, Kenneth Ellington, Ross Mormino, and Paul Welge. The crowning glory came when Arthur's skirt flew out into the audience. Their teacher and leader was Evangeline Ginos.

CARNIVAL

Oh, my stomach! Well, it really wasn't that bad. Those freshmen girls are good cooks, when they stop fooling around. The stand they decorated looks like a penitentiary offense with all the stripes. It's a good group of mothers we have to bring candy for us to sell and help swell the profits.

Mary probably told Shirley a good fortune. "It's in the cards." The fate of many people was decided by the able fortune tellers in their gay dresses and weird surroundings. The assistant, in this case, was unnecessary.

Oh, the awful bugbear—blocking. But it is required for a minstrel show. Miss Manning knows how to smear it on and hit all the high spots. Miss Biggs had charge of all of the music and accompanied each number on the piano.

The Minstrel Show was one laugh after another. All was ably managed and kept going by the interlocuter, W. W. Welge, Esq. A Girls' Quartette flitted through a number that was genuine art. Several of the teachers had slightly tinted faces, after some of the jokes concerning them were given. All was good, clean fun.

The rootin'-tootin'-rodeos directed by Miss Clark was a rip-snortin', gun-tootin' shindig. The songs they sang packed lots of wim, vigor, and witality. Some of the jokes they gave out were true masterpieces in their line. The solo by "Nitro" Markel was beautifully rendered, with an accent on the rendered.

OUR MAJESTIES

King . . . Jack Ott

Queen . . Bette Lee McLean

The great event of the night came. The crowd waited breathlessly. The candidates with their escorts came down the aisles; each person feared he would fall down before he reached his destination. The girls arrived one by one, holding us in suspense as to whom the Queen was. At last Hope King came as the Maid of Honor. Then a hush fell over the room; the Queen was to come next. Bette Lee McLean emerged from the doorway, and there was a great applause. Jack Ott, the king, then crowned her the "Queen of Hillsboro Community High School." Thus ended another successful Carnival. We know everyone had a good time.

THE PIKE

My, where did all these people come from? Confetti was everywhere. In spite of the "corn", the Bingo stand had a large number of luck seekers. The country store attracted the farmers (?). To ward off the confetti throwers a cane came in handy—if you could ring one. "Sweets for the sweet" called the candy girls. Bashful boys surrounded the telegraph booth waiting to send sweet nothings to their hoody. Bang, Biff—more thrills and then one of our amateur boxers went down.

The success of any yearbook is due largely to cooperation. The senior class of Hillsboro High have been most successful in getting whole-hearted cooperation from the student body and from those business and professional men who advertise in our annual. It is the accepted fact that the heart of a yearbook is the advertisements. Since our first high school yearbook was published in 1923, the leading business and professional men of Hillsboro and concerns with which we have had contact have given the senior publishers their loyal support.

From a careful survey of previous editions we have compiled an honor roll of those who for a decade or more have ads in our book. To you—friends, citizens, and supporters—we express our sincerest appreciation and thanks: J. M. Weingand, 17 years; White and White, 17 years; E. T. Douglas, 16 years; Welge Furniture, 16 years; H. Now that we've closed the last chapter in another Hiltop, we find it full of memories and reminiscences of past joys and sorrows. We've tried to recall for you many old friends and incidents characteristic of the year 1940-41. In trying to portray a complete picture of this year, we have combined the important events with those incidental occurrences which set it apart from other previous years. Though the book ends, we hope that the memories will linger on and on.
